INTERNATIONAL DIFFICULTIES.

John Bull has a large family, something over forty, we believe. One of them, commonly known by the sobriquet of "Uncle Sam," cast off all paternal authority and restraint, many years ago, and boldly struck out on his own account. That paternal exactions were such as no young man of an independent turn would submit to has long since been admitted by all parties. Even John Bull himself has acknowledged as much. Uncle Sam, as we shall continue to call him, was possessed of an independent turn of mind. Bold, manly, self-reliant, ambitious—shall we add, saucy?—he has grown to be almost as great a man as his father—his possibly imagines himself much greater. His marvellous success has made him, perhaps, a little saucy. Displeased at the attitude assumed by the old man, during a recent domestic quarrel, Uncle Sam has been for some time taking every opportunity to revenge himself, and the civilized world is now looking on with wonder, but not with complacency, while father and son are engaged in a rather unseemly dispute about certain alleged infringements of rights. Uncle Sam says he whipped John Bull once and can do it again; but still he disclaims any intention to fight. John Bull, conscious of his own strength and, may we not add, the righteousness of his cause, won't condescend to talk about fighting with his saucy son. New complications are arising between the parties. John Bull has a younger and, perhaps, more dutiful son living alongside of Uncle Sam, and between whom the best feeling does not exist. This second son may be called John Bull junior, and the unhappy feeling between him and his bigger, richer and stronger brother probably has its origin chiefly in the fact that he continues under paternal control and protection, and, like a dutiful son, espouses the cause of his father. The contemplated transfer to him of a large and very valuable estate, to which his brother appeared to conceive himself equally entitled, and the scheme called Confederation, by which it is proposed to make young John as rich in land, and ultimately as powerful as Uncle Sam himself would appear to have intensified former unfriendliness. To dismember our remarks from the figurative form of expression, Canada would appear to be disposed to act a new and distinctive part in the international disputes long pending between Great Britain and the United States. We published the information a few days ago that Mr. Galt had announced that Canada proposes to put in an account against the United States for damages arising out of the Fenian invasion. Our telegram of Wednesday informs us that there is a disposition on the part of the Dominion Government to withdraw certain fishing privileges hitherto extended to the United States. Under Treaty stipulations the exclusive right to fish in waters three miles from the shore-line was secured to the British Provinces. Under the Reciprocity Treaty of 1851 the United States enjoyed the right of fishing in these waters. Upon the abrogation of that Treaty the Provinces, in a fit of liberality scarcely reciprocated by their neighbours, agreed to grant during pleasure a continuance of this privilege, by issuing licenses on payment of a merely nominal charge, 50cts. a ton on vessels engaged in fishing, we believe. One section of American statesmen—the Lovejoy school—always denied the validity of the Treaty upon this point, claiming that whenever treaty stipulations were repugnant to the comity of nations they must give way, and that as the seas were the highway of nations, free alike to all, no treaty could take away the right to free navigation and use. Without pretending to deal with the nice point of international law thus raised, it is evident that, whatever the U. S. Government may have thought it worth, all such alleged rights were waved when that Government consented to fish in the disputed waters, under licence granted during pleasure, and for which a monied consideration was paid. It is well known that these fishing privileges formed the chief inducement for the American Government to enter into the Reciprocity Treaty, and it is very evident that this same question will constitute a most powerful argument in the hands of the Dominion Government in negotiating a second treaty, as the interests involved are immense. It will be interesting to watch the progress of these various issues, as they are gradually developed.

COLONIAL INTERESTS.

We make the following extract from a letter recently published in a London paper:—

"What is there to hinder Great Britain from making such arrangements with the Canadian Government, when the transfer of the Hudson's Bay territory has been completed, as shall enable us to make the British emigrant feel that he will be much more at home, and much more likely to thrive in a British colony, under Queen Victoria, than in any part of the American Union, under President Grant, or any other nominal head of the Republic? If there are no less than 200,000,000 acres of good land in the territory which is about to be opened up, as is alleged, there must be ample room, in that part of our colonial empire alone, for all the swarms of an increasing population which the United Kingdom can throw off during the next two or three generations. Even without the proposed annexation of so large an extent of new land, the dominion of Canada has lately been found much preferable to the United States as a place of settlement for those emigrants from this country who are able to judge for themselves. The old nations regarding the superiority of America, 'as the land of liberty and light taxation,' cannot easily be exploded among our labouring classes; but the stern logic of facts must gradually enable them to perceive the difference between a country without a national debt, as the United States was only eight years ago, and a country with about the same annual burden as we have to bear, in the shape of interest on a national debt, as is now the case with the citizens of the Great Republic.

As regards the progress of our North American colonies, it has been too much the custom of our Liberal press to speak of them in a half-pitying, half-contemptuous tone, as if they were not worthy of being compared with the great American Union, beside which they seem dwarfed into insignificance. A little more patriotism, and a little more knowledge of colonial questions, would prevent any British journalist from propagating such false and mischievous notions. Take the case of United Canada alone, for example, and compare the progress it has made in population with that of the United States since the beginning of the present century, and it will be seen that our colony need not shrink from such a comparison. In 1800 the two provinces of Upper and Lower Canada contained 240,000 inhabitants; in 1864, when the last census was taken, the population of United Canada was 2,783,079; showing a much greater ratio of increase than the United States, which had a population of about 5,000,000 in 1860, and is now said to have 38,000,000. Since the commencement of the present century Canada has doubled its population every eighteen years; whereas the United States, during the same period, in spite of the enormous increase it has received from Europe, has taken twenty-three years to double its population.

In 1866 the Dominion of Canada, including under that title the whole of our North American colonies contained a population of 3,700,000. Now, if you only suppose the same rate of increase to continue for the next 72 years as the one that has been maintained in the chief portion of the Dominion since 1800, the progress of this thriving portion of our colonial empire (as the following figures show) will be more surprising than has ever yet been witnessed in any new country in the world, not excepting even the United States:—

1866	3,700,000
1884	7,400,000
1902	14,800,000
1920	29,600,000
1938	59,200,000

How many years must elapse before Canada, doubling its population every 18 years, and the United States every 23 years will become equal in numerical strength, I leave your statistical readers to calculate. That the annexation of the "fertile belt," as well as the less valuable adjacent territory, will give the Dominion of Canada a much higher character as an emigration field than it has ever yet possessed, anybody must admit, and the result will doubtless tend to make the ratio of increase greater than it has been hitherto, rather than less."

BRIGHTON ROAD.—It has already been stated that Mr. Spence is doing good work upon the Brighton Road, but that the sum of $2000, to which he is limited, is inadequate to complete the necessary repairs. We are now informed upon excellent authority, that an additional $1000 would enable Mr. Spence to put the road in question in such a thorough state of repair as would render any further expenditure unnecessary for several years, but that if no more than the $2000 is to be expended now, probably more than that sum will be required next year; and not only so, but that the road will again become impassable during the rainy season. When the importance of the interests depending upon the Brighton road are considered, and when it is clear that it would be cheaper and better every way to make one job of it, we venture to think that the Executive will not hesitate to authorize the additional necessary expenditure. It is surely better to expend another thousand now, and have a road that will be passable at all seasons, than have the traffic again suspended, and be obliged to spend $2000 next year to do what can be done for half that sum now. We earnestly recommend the Executive to give this matter immediate attention, and not have any more of this penny-wise and pound-foolish work.

THE NICHOLSON CASE.—This vexatious case, which has been before the Courts of the Colony for more than a year, and which has given rise to all sorts of complications about conflict of jurisdiction, &c., was tried yesterday, before Chief Justice Begbie and a special jury, under the provisions of the Supreme Courts Act of last Session. It will be seen by reference to a report of the case, published in another column, that the jury found for the plaintiffs, and the Judge decided the legal points in their favour. We venture to think that this decision will give very general satisfaction.

THE PICTURE.—Of course photographic pictures of the International Eleven's recently playing at San Francisco were duly taken. That of our own Eleven we have seen. It was taken by a Montgomery Street artist named Shew, and is very good. These pictures, together with an account of the International match have been transmitted to England, and may reasonably be expected to appear in due time in the Illustrated London News.

ANOTHER GREAT ROBBERY.—Crime, like most other things, in a princely scale in London. Last exchanges mention a robbery of $50,000. The supposed robber, Benjamin Higgs, was assistant book-keeper in the office of the Central Gas Company, and had fled. He had lived in style, married a wealthy ward in Chancery, and had a house built at a cost of £12,000.

FROM NANAIMO.—The str. Sir James Douglas returned from Nanaimo yesterday, bringing a few passengers and a quantity of produce and farm stock. The bark Cooper had nearly completed loading, and the Shooting Star was on the way up for a cargo. There is about 13,000,000 tons of coal out.

MOVEMENTS OF STEAMERS.—A despatch was received from Portland yesterday, by the local agents, announcing that the Oriflamme will sail for San Francisco on Saturday, the Gussie Telfair for this port on Tuesday next, and the G. S. Wright for this port this evening.

THE GOLD MINING ORDINANCE.—The Governor has caused it to be notified that the Gold Commissioner at Cariboo has received instructions to dispose of copies of the Gold Mining Ordinance, at $1 each, the proceeds to be applied to the benefit of the Cariboo Hospital.

SENT UP.—William Lyons and Thos. Shakspear, who have been several days in jail, on charges of enticing seamen from H. M. Navy to desert, were yesterday committed by the Police Magistrate to take their trial at the Court of Assizes, to be held on the 19th inst.

SETTLED.—The charge that was preferred against Mrs. Lawson, for unlawful detention of papers, the property of Jas. Thompson, was yesterday dismissed by the Police Magistrate, Thompson having paid the $50 demanded by the woman.

ASSIZES ON THE MAINLAND.—Chief Justice Begbie will go up by the steamer Enterprise to-day, and will hold Court at Yale on the 10th inst., at Clinton on the 19th inst., at Quesnelmouth on the 24th prox, and at Richmond on the 16th prox.

SALE OF SHATTLE LOTS.—Mr. Franklin's sale of lots in the town of South Seattle, held at his Salesroom, yesterday, was well attended. Nearly 40 lots were knocked down at fair prices.

DON'T BE ALARMED if you hear a fire-alarm bell rung, and rung right loudly sometime to-day. The Deluge Fire Company had their Bell placed in position yesterday, and intend giving it a trial ring to-day.

AN OVERSIGHT.—In reporting the Bank of Canada case, published yesterday, we inadvertently omitted to state that Mr. McCreight was instructed by Messrs. Peakes & Davis, and Mr. Robertson by Mr. Courtney.

TO ARRIVE.—The Hudson's Bay Co's new ship, Lady Lamson cleared from London for Victoria V. I. on the 20th February, and may be looked for about the middle of next month. We publish to-day a manifest of her cargo.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION.—Saturday's Gazette contains the names of the gentlemen appointed to remodel the Customs Tariff. The names having been already published in these columns, we need not repeat them.

WHISKY SELLING.—George Hughes was yesterday convicted at the Police Court, for supplying liquor to Indians, contrary to law, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, or suffer imprisonment for six months.

HEALTH DISTRICTS.—The Governor has proclaimed the Cities of Victoria and New Westminster, Health Districts, under the provisions of the Health Ordinance, 1869.

FOR NEW WESTMINSTER.—The str. Enterprise, Capt. Swanson, will sail for New Westminster, at 11 o'clock this morning, with a very large freight.

ANOTHER J. P.—Capt. Henry Wentworth Mist, R. N., is gazetted a Justice of the Peace for British Columbia.

CANADA.—The commerce of the Dominion with foreign nations now amounts to considerably over $50,000,000, annually.

FROM SOOKE.—The steamer Fly, Captain Frain, returned from Sooke last evening.

SUPREME COURT.

(Before His Lordship Chief Justice Ritchie.)

May 6th 1869.

Heathly &amp; Richardson vs. Richard

Woods, Official Assignee.

The issue of this case was, as follows. The plaintiffs affirm, and the defendant denies, that certain goods and chattels mentioned in a bill of sale dated 26th October 1865, and sold by Chas. W. Wallace by his attorney J. C. Nicholson, on the said date, and of which the sum of $332 paid into Court is the proceeds, were, at the time of the bankruptcy of the said C. W. Wallace, that is to say, on the 9th day of September 1867, the goods and chattels of E. D. Heathly, &amp; William Richardson, plaintiff, on behalf of Dickson Campbell &amp; Co., as against the assignees of the said bankrupt.

The following were the special jury empaneled to sit upon the case, G. J.

Findlay (foreman) T. N. Hibben, A. R.

Green, A. J. Langley, F. S. Roscoe,

A. McLean, H. P. Good, T. C. Nuttall.

The Council for the Plaintiffs was

Mr. Woods, instructed by Messrs.

Drake Jackson &amp; Co. and for the Defendant Mr. Robertson, instructed by

M. Green.

J. C. Nicholson sworn.—I an agent for Messrs. Dickson Campbell &amp; Co.

who are represented by Messrs.

Heathly &amp; Richardson in San Francisco. I was clerk in Dickson Campbell &amp; Co's office in August 1865.

There was then a debit account on the books of the Company against Mr. Wallace of from 14 to $1600. In August 1865 Mr. Wallace executed a power of attorney to me. He told me he was going to England, and as he was largely indebted to Messrs.

Dickson &amp; Campbell, that he wished me to manage and dispose of his property so as to protect their interests in every possible way, and he instructed me to give them security on every thing he (Wallace) possessed. Acting under Wallace's instructions I gave a bill of sale of his furniture to Messrs.

 Dickson Campbell & Co. on the 26th of October 1865. Mr. Wallace returned from England in March 1866, and immediately upon his arrival I told him what I had done, and he approved of it. He told me that was just what he wanted to do, and he was glad that I had mortgaged the furniture to Dickson Campbell & Co. Mr.
 Wallace continued to live in the house and use the furniture upon the condition of his paying 30 dollars per month, the interest of the mortgage on the house. In May 1867 he left the house and told me to take charge of it as he could not pay the interest any longer. In June he told me to sell the furniture, and apply the proceeds to his credit in Dickson Campbell's account. I did not sell it then, on account of the dullness of the times.
 I thought the furniture would not sell for its value. Wallace gave me the key in June. I afterwards let Michael Wallace have the key to get some clothes out of the house. He kept the key three or four weeks. I kept the key after he returned it until I gave it to Mr. Backus previous to the auction of the furniture. He paid $1-303 into the Court. The $332 claimed is the proceeds of the furniture.

Mr. Robertson. When Mr. Wallace left for England he was not indebted to any person but Dickson Campbell & Co. There were some Antler Creek bills running on which he was liable. He had no account at the Bank of British Columbia. The Bank held some Antler Creek bills.
 I did supply Mrs. Wallace with some money whilst Mr. Wallace was absent.

Wallace gave me the power of attorney 3 or 4 days before he went to England. He gave a mortgage of his real estate when he went to San Francisco on his way to England.
 I executed the bill of sale of the furniture about six weeks after he left for England. I acted on my own authority. I did not try to secure Wallace. I told Mr. Ward, manager of the Bank of British Columbia, what I intended to do. I did not intend to give Wallace a cent of the proceeds of the furniture. He (Wallace) did not tell me that if I did not sell the property some of his other creditors would come in. I knew that he was liable on acceptances of Antler Creek Co's notes. I effected insurance on the furniture in the name of Wallace and transferred the policy to Messrs. Dickson Campbell & Co.

C. W. Wallace gave evidence and corroborated the statements of Mr.
 Nicholson in every point bearing upon the issue. He stated that the reason why he did not give the bill of sale of furniture, previous to his leaving for England, was partly for the want of time, but chiefly because he did not know what arrangements might be made in England in consequence of the death of one of the members of the firm. He (Wallace) also stated that he was liable to the Bank of British Columbia, to the extent of 10 or $15,000, but his just proportion of the debt was about $2,000. None of these bills were due when Mr. Nicholson executed the bill of sale of the furniture. The evidence for the Plaintiffs here closed.

Mr. Robertson for the defence did not wish to call any evidence, but thought he might claim a non suit, on the ground of the invalidity of the bill of sale under the power of Attorney. His Lordship said there were certain points and facts in the case, that must go to the jury. He would therefore let the jury decide on these points, and afterward heard and determine on the legal points which were urged as objections by the defendant.

Mr. Woods then addressed the jury at some length, after which Mr.
 Robertson briefly addressed the jury, grounding his defence principally upon the premises that the bill of sale was not valid; that the condition of the power of attorney gave no authority for such an act, nor was the bill of sale properly registered; that the chattels when sold were the property of Wallace at the time of his Bankruptcy, September the 9th, 1867, and the fact of Mr. Wallace having lived in the house, and having possession of the furniture, and using it as his own, after his return from England, confirmed the fact that he was the real owner of the property.

His Lordship, in addressing the Jury, said he would not trouble them with any lengthened remarks, nor did he deem it necessary to read the evidence over. They were all men of experience and intelligence, and as well understood the facts of the case as himself. He would simply state that there were no charges of fraud in the case, nor should any sympathy be allowed to have influence in the matter. They were called upon to find upon facts. His Lordship had his findings in the case, and the Jury had theirs. He would therefore place before them three distinct points upon which they would find and return to him their verdict upon each: 1st, Was the furniture conveyed by the Bill of Sale given by Nicholson in October, 1865? 2d, Was the delivery of the key to Mr. Nicholson, in May, 1867, intended as giving possession of the furniture as well as the house? 3d, On the 9th September, 1867, was the furniture in the order or disposition of C. W. Wallace, the bankrupt?

The Jury retired and returned in fifteen minutes to the Court, and, upon the questions submitted to them by His Lordship, being severally put to them again by the Clerk, they answered yes to the first and second, and to the third, no; and that the plaintiffs were right in their issue.

The Jury were then discharged, and His Lordship heard the arguments of the Counsel upon the points of law reserved in the case, deciding all in favor of the plaintiffs.

An ancient vase and brooches have lately been dug up at Ardab, in the county of Limerick, Ireland. There is a tradition that a battle was fought there before the time of Brian Boroi-hine, and this is corroborated by the occasional discovery of human bones.
 The Earl of Dunraven read a paper descriptive of the articles found, before the Royal Irish Academy, at its last meeting. The vase or cup bears the names of the twelve apostles in letters half an inch long. Lord Dunraven remarked of it that "for perfection of execution the vase might take its place beside the Tarn brooch. They had every reason to rejoice that so exquisite a specimen of the skill of our countrymen in working in metal nearly 1000 years ago had been thus unexpectedly brought to light."
